LINCOLN
COLLEGE
MEN'S VOLLEYBALL

Head Coach: Mark Tippett

Coach Tippett has been head coach of the Lincoln College Women's Volleyball program since 2001. During his tenure, he has brought a high level of excellence to the program, both in the classroom and on the court.

In addition to coaching the volleyball team, Tippett is the Social Sciences and P.E. Division Chair and teaches Introduction to Education. Tippett holds a B.A. degree in English from Millikin University and a Masters in Education from the American College of Education. He and his wife, along with their two daughters, live in Lincoln.

The Men's Volleyball team at Lincoln College is an independent club team. The program receives a full athletic budget and athletic scholarship money is available. The team will compete during the spring semester against JV or varsity teams from four-year colleges and in open club tournaments at area universities.

Program Goals

1. Players in the program will succeed academically to the best of their ability.
2. The team will compete at the highest level possible.
3. Players in the program will improve their skills and enjoy the experience.
